DEATH CALLS PROVINCIAL TREASURER

Hon. Malcolm MacKenzie succumbs to Peritonitis After Less Than a Week's Illness.

BRILLIANT LAWYER; ABLE LEGISLATOR

Has Left Imprint on More States in Alberta Than Any Other Member.

The Hon. Malcolm MacKenzie, provincial treasurer of Alberta, and member for Macleod in the Provincial Legislature, died yesterday.

The announcement, startling in its suddenness, will be received with universal regret by people on all shades of political opinion, friends and opponents alike, and those who knew him well.

Very few people knew that he was seriously ill. Hardly anybody, until yesterday afternoon, had any suspicion that the end was so near. He was nominated as the Liberal candidate for Macleod in the constituency last February at an enthusiastic gathering. He attended the convention and caught a chill. The illness took a turn for the worse on Sunday in Calgary, as he was on his way back, and when he arrived in Edmonton last Monday morning he was so ill that he at once took to his bed.

When Dr. Hjeltn was called in to see him, he was delirious, but at four o'clock on Monday afternoon, he had a high fever, his temperature then being 104°. He was given the treatment of Dr. Hjeltn, he appeared to steadily improve, so much so that Dr. Hjeltn, after giving him a sedative in the morning, said that the estates in the hands of the trustees that Mr. MacKenzie would be able to resume his parliamentary duties and postpone his departure.

But the complaint of peritonitis from which he was suffering caused him to remain in bed on Tuesday, and took on a more acute form. It was seen that the patient was sinking rapidly.

Consultation Called.

His condition was so alarming that Dr. Hjeltn called in Dr. Harrison and Dr. Blas in consultation, and Dr. MacKenzie was sent to the office of Mr. MacKenzie's physician for twenty years, and who had learned of his illness, Dr. W. J. Henry, of Macleod. He died at 10:30 last night.

But notwithstanding all that medical skill could do, nothing could be done to save him. He died on Thursday, and took on a more acute form. It was seen that the patient was sinking rapidly.

Mr. MacKenzie was at his bedside when the end came, and also Mrs. MacKenzie's sister, Miss Henry, of Winnipeg.

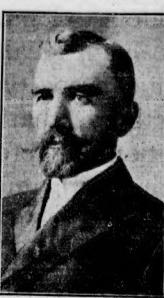

Dr. Kennedy was with Mr. MacKenzie until 10:30 last night. He received a hurried summons just before the doctor arrived, and was at the hospital after all was over. He informed the Bulletin that Mr. MacKenzie was conscious for a few moments before he died.

Mr. MacKenzie was an old friend of mine. He was born at King's Cross, London, and died there in the prime of life when he was so suddenly struck.

He was a man of earnest, manly, unusual ability. He was an honor graduate of Queen's University and a gold medalist in philosophy.

Ottawa, March 11.—The long-expected application of closure by the government at 11 o'clock tonight. The form taken was by rulings of the chairman, which were in accordance with and contrary to all former interpretation of rules of the house. J. E. Allard of Brandon, acted as chairman.

The announcement of the government intention was made by Dr. Rogers. After a short silence, he said that the end was so near. He was nominated as the Liberal candidate for Macleod in the constituency last February at an enthusiastic gathering. He attended the convention and caught a chill. Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain Writes Presenting Birthday Fund to League.

London, Mar. 14.—The tariff reform league at its annual meeting here to-night, presented a birthday fund to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain in which he presented his birthday fund testimonial nearly £1,000.

It was not given to me to begin but I am greatly gratified by the zeal and activity of those who have continued it. Much has already been done to help the cause of the tariff which is making rapid strides.

The first move was made by Hon. Sir H. R. Wilson, who in a speech said that if the existing rates of the house did not prove to be such as would be acceptable to the public, then the new rates would be introduced. He announced that it was the determine action of the committee to have no further discussion during the past two weeks and which he himself would be present at the meeting.

The discussion on the point of order was going on briskly at 3 a.m.

Hon. Sir H. R. Wilson, who replied, expressed surprise that the announcement had not been made by the president of the board. He said that the bill had been delayed because of the fault of the government, but he had no objection to the bill being taken up at any time. Instead, an attempt had been made to bulldoze the bill through the house.

The effect of the Privy Council decision was very important, as it was now clear that the bill would not go through parliament.

ROGERS HAS STARTED TO THREATEN

the previous day a point of order had been raised and the chairman had given a ruling. As for the statement made by Mr. Pugsley in regard to him, he was perfectly innocent. It was made out of the whole cloth.

He said the fact was that it was made by an honorable gentleman who was present, replied Mr. Pugsley.

A scene of confusion such as has seldom been witnessed in the house followed. Then, after a moment Chairman Armstrong, Mr. Pugsley and A. C. Royce were all on their feet at the same time, striving to get an opportunity to speak.

Finally Mr. Armstrong exclaimed: "With all due respect, the two aggressive members resumed their seats.

Mr. Armstrong said that he had understood Mr. Pugsley to say that he had withdrawn his remarks about the minister of labor.

"Then you did?" asked Mr. Pugsley.

"Then the ex-minister of labor works should give an opportunity to withdraw his remarks," ruled the chairman.

Mr. Pugsley, in the midst of much confusion, went on to say that he had accepted the statement of the minister of labor that he was not interested in the subject of labor on the previous day occurred. Apparently the honorable gentleman who had attributed it to him and if it applied to him.

Mr. Crothers said that the incident was not quite correctly reported. He said that he had been drawn to the remark at the time, and Mr. Lister, who was in the chair, had said to him, "Don't say one word particular. He added that he could not undertake to describe everything which had happened.

Mr. Meighen said that the incident was the result of a lack of understanding between the two men, and that the minister of labor had withdrawn his statement of the facts.

Mr. Crothers again rose to explain the incident, and said that he had understood from his conduct on that day that the minister of labor was at the time intoxicated.

"I do not insist upon retracting that statement," said Mr. Crothers with heat.

"I do not retract when the honorable gentleman does," said Mr. Pugsley. "It would be more manly for the minister of labor to withdraw his statement than for me to do so in this manner to retract."

Mr. Crothers again rose to explain the incident, and said that he had understood from his conduct on that day that the minister of labor was at the time intoxicated.

Mr. Meighen again rose to insist on that he had withdrawn his statement of the facts.

Mr. Crothers again rose to explain the incident, and said that he had understood from his conduct on that day that the minister of labor was at the time intoxicated.

Mr. Meighen again insisted on that he had withdrawn his statement of the facts.

Mr. Pugsley then prepared to proceed with his speech, but was interrupted by Mr. Meighen, who insisted that Mr. Armstrong should be allowed to speak.

Chairman Armstrong ruled that the question made by Mr. Pugsley was irrelevant to the speech.

Mr. Meighen, however, insisted on holding the floor, and continued his impudent outburst from the desk of the chairman. Then there was more confusion. Mr. Boyce got the floor and proceeded to make a speech of 15 minutes duration in a bear garden.

"You are the bear," shouted one of the Liberal benches.

The next few minutes the argument was confined largely to Chairman Armstrong's speech, and a great uproar ensued as to whether the withdrawal of the ex-minister of labor was complete.

When Mr. Pugsley rose to speak he was greeted with Liberal cheers.

Mr. Pugsley then prepared to quote further from the incident as described in Hansard and criticized the minister of labor for "allowing himself to be put into a position of giving a speech."

Mr. Meighen, however, insisted on holding the floor.

"Do you think that the language used was such as we have a right to expect from a member of the house?" asked Mr. Pugsley.

"I am not called upon to express my opinion on that," said Mr. White.

The chairman said he already had.

Mr. Meighen insisted on holding the floor.

Mr. Pugsley then prepared to speak again and Mr. White drew the attention of the house, owing to the profanity of his references to the condition of the minister of labor. "I was present," he said, "and the statement is perfectly founded."

In the Realm of Women

By PENLOPE

With the coming of Holy Week all gaiety will undoubtedly cease, and the next eight days will be spent in sombre silence by Mrs. Edmonton, preparatory to Easter—the greatest festival of the year.

A number of dances are given down in the different saloons of the town, and will pick up the threads of gaiety after a brief respite, to tread in the halls of pleasure once more.

Mrs. Sifton was the hostess of a delightful tea yesterday in honor of the women members of the Legislature, and members of the Legislature.

Mrs. J. R. McCallum is entertaining at luncheon on Saturday.

Mr. Richard Scord left yesterday for Toronto.

The Rose Ball—always one of the smartest dances of the year—is booked for the 27th of March, in the Separate School hall, in the Separate School, marking the occasion of the Mass of roses for the occasion, when all will dance like drunks. Host the person who has been invited to wear their new distinctly uniforms for the first time. The effect will be entrancing in white with gold labels on the waist, will be unenvied.

"Turner's Orchestra."

The Neemeton club will hold one of their series of dances April 4.

Mrs. Malin, of the Royal George, is giving a dance in the blue room March 24.

The Shriners are giving a grand ball on the 25th inst., in the McKay Auditorium. The twelve-piece orchestra will provide the music.

"Ash Cup Remained with Mrs. Jack Smythe."

An exciting curling match was played off between two teams yesterday on the Twenty-first Street rink. Mrs. Richard Hardisty, Mrs. Adam Grey, Mrs. Cairns, Misses Macmillan, Mrs. Archibald, Mrs. Branton, Miss Grace Smith, the team from the Royal George, ten points against four points. The Ash cup is theirs for another year.

and at the end of each psalm one is extinguished until only a single candle is left at the top of the chandelier. During the service St. Benedictus, the candles on the high altar are put out, while at the antiphon "Ite missa est" the candle left alight is hidden at the eastern corner of the altar, to be found again at the end of the office. Hence the name "Tenebrae" (or "darkness"), which figures the death of Christ.

Christ, the Light of the world, was passing from us midis. The last candle is extinguished, and the darkness of death covers the earth.

Superintendent McCaig does not express a definite opinion on the matter, but says it is a wise move, though the wisdom of the experiment. An official whose duties would be to organize the children, he said, would see that the children might be all right. He could make their recreation much more pleasant.

But to station a supervisor on sentry duty, in much the same way as the warden, would affect the character of the institution with a check mark, probably, in his hand, ready to shock the more frolicksome spirits at the playground. The children, in bounds, might be expected to have the effect of driving the children into the streets and preventing the use of the playgrounds altogether.

Time of Recitation Day?

The Calvary school board, at a meeting this week, decided to appoint a playground superintendent, at a salary of two thousand dollars per annum, to superintend the playgrounds and superintend the play of the children. He will be on duty all the time.

Is it a wise move? Will such an appointment render the children's play more pleasant? Will the children get as much enjoyment out of their romping about the iron-some restraint and watchful eye of a supervisor?

EXAMINATIONS TODAY.

About seventy teachers from both sides of the river are taking part in examinations to qualify for physical training certificates under the provisions of the Education Act. Major Elmer C. Major, director of the educational interests in the province under the trust, is supervising the examinations.

Celebrating Empire Day.

A teacher who graduated in the schools on May 2nd, is not marked in Edmonton by any elaborate celebration. For some years past the Beaver House Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire have offered prizes for compositions on patriotic subjects open to all students of the public schools. They will do the same this year, the subject of the examination being "Our Empire."

The form of celebration in the junior sections is largely left to the discretion of the teachers themselves.

Eighty Coming.

A report from Calgary states that about eighty teachers from the southern city to the Edmonton convention.

Former years some teachers, not necessarily from Calgary, have been in the habit of getting leave of absence to attend the meeting, thus devoting the day to pleasure-seeking. The Calvary board will take up their teachers this year, and if they do not attend the convention the board will want to know the reason why.

From the Financial Viewpoint.

It is expected that eight hundred delegates will be present at the annual meeting of the Alberta Educational Association, just think what that means to Edmonton from a monetary point of view.

They will be here four days. At two and a half a day, an average expense during their stay in the city no less than eight thousand dollars. The hotel bill will be high, and there will be some house charge. Put this at about a dollar a day per head, or about three thousand dollars, and there will be a total of eleven thousand dollars that the delegates will leave behind them. Edmonton is doing very well, thank you.

EASTER HOLIDAYS.

The schools will close for the Easter holidays on Thursday, March 28th, and will re-open on Monday, March 31st.

Tenders are being invited by the school board for the erection of a farm school building on King Edward Park, South Side.

Buidling Commissioner Turner is of the opinion that the firm of Dore, Thomas and Christianson, of Calgary, will secure the contract for the new farm school. The estimated cost of the school will be $10,000.

The firm in question, however, have not yet submitted any plans to the board. Mr. Doyle says he knows what he is about, and is not worrying.

The further increase in salary offered last week to Mr. G. E. Turner, building commissioner, was a fitting recognition of a very competent official. Mr. Turner holds a position of great responsibility in one of the big spending departments of the board. His duties, moreover, can be easily understood. The salary of $15,500 a year is now getting to be too much, as western salaries go.

Fifteen hundred dollars in one year is not unusual for one of the commissioners to have for one night's sleep. That is what the building commissioner's little trip around the country cost him. The amount, it is suggested that the amount was expended ungraciously, and that the commissioners' course of erection, it is absolutely imperative for the commissioner to keep his weather eye open and to be on the spot and see that the board

WILL CANADA ASSUME HER DUTY—OR "BUY OUT"?

If there are not in Canada yet ships which will bring battle-cruisers could be built, that is not an argument against the creation of a Canadian navy.

It may or may not be an argument against the east and delay which would be involved in postponing the commencement of such navy until plants and yards had been established here in which the largest units could be constructed.

If it is desirable to bring a Canadian navy into existence sooner than could be done by awaiting the establishment of plants and yards in this country, there is no reason why the first large units of the fleet should not be built in British yards, where the battle-cruisers of the New Zealand and Australian units are being built.

The establishment of Canadian yards and plants could be decided with concurrence, and within a very few years from these could be turned out torpedo craft and other vessels of classes less large and complicated than the battle-cruisers—just as is being done in Australia and New Zealand.

It is not essential to the policy of a Canadian navy that every ship in that navy should be built in Canadian yards. It is more than it is essential to the Australian and New Zealand navies that every ship in those fleets should be built in Australian or New Zealand shipyards.

It is essential to Canada's place and duty toward herself and the Empire that she should be prepared and man a number of ships to defend her in Canadian yards; and that to this end we should proceed without delay to the establishment of the facilities necessary for the construction of at least the smaller and less complicated vessels of a fleet such as it is Canada's duty to provide for its defence.

It is in keeping with both prudence and patriotism that, as far as practicable, Canadian ships should be built in Canadian yards; and that to this end we should proceed without delay to the establishment of the facilities necessary for the construction of at least the smaller and less complicated vessels of a fleet such as it is Canada's duty to provide for its defence.

It is in keeping with both common sense and a vital concern in Imperial responsibility that Canada should play a real and active part, in co-operation with Great Britain and the other overseas Dominions, in securing the maintenance of British prestige and the preservation of British interests wherever these may be threatened.

It is not in keeping with either common sense or a vital concern in Imperial responsibility that Canada should play the part of a tribute paying colony, buying with borrowed dollars immunity from the burden of actively helping to defend her own or any other portion of the British Empire which may need defending.

THE MASTER OF THE SITUATION

Premier Sifton on Thursday proposed in the Legislature a resolution authorizing the Government to borrow five million dollars during the present year, two millions of which are to be put into the extension of the telephone system, and the balance into other public works chargeable to capital account.

In amendment Mr. Michener moved that the authority be not given to the Government until a settlement had been made of the money derived from the sale of the A. and G. W. bonds.

The only hope of the Opposition leaders is that they can induce some of those Liberal members who have approved the A. and G. W. bargain to join with the Conservative members against Premier Sifton in a vote of want of confidence.

If that was the object, the manoeuvre fell as flat as the argument of its author. When the Hon. Mr. Michener did not consider it advisable to test the success of his dodge by dividing the House, The resolution was passed without a division.

The net result of the unsuccessful foray is that Premier Sifton stands as the master of the situation, more decisively than at any time since he assumed the difficult task of gaining the Provincial bark through troubled waters.

By admission of the Opposition he has the backing of the Liberals in the House, with the possible exception of Messrs. Rutherford and Cornwall; and is free to settle the A. and G. W. matter not on demand of a political combination, but in accordance with the rights and interests of the public.

The prospect of a combination between the Conservative members and those Liberal members who approved the A. and G. W. bargain, for the purpose of ousting Premier Sifton and reviving the A. and G. W. contract, cannot now be a very rosy prospect.

The speaker of the House, however, is of the opinion that we have no right to object to it strongly. First, I wish to draw attention to the position of the Opposition on this matter. The Government took office in October. I think on the 19th ult. they proceeded to a reversal of the naval policy of the previous government, by calling in the contractors and calling off the contracts that were ready to be signed for the construction of a Canadian fleet. Then, had he not, in his speech of the 19th ult., declared that we had no right to object to it strongly.

Borden's Change of Front.

I need not remind the House that it was he who, in his speech of the 19th ult., declared that we had no right to object to it strongly.

If Canada can depend upon Britain to do her part, Britain ought to do her duty. Under the arrangement of the late government, that dependence might well be lost.

It cannot be denied that it is not possible to give the people of Canada a still better cure than Friedmann's.

Much of the work done in this new serum will be carried on at a biological laboratory of the experimental farm with the cooperation of Dr. Bicker. Dr. Bicker stated that he would remain in Ottawa for a week or so and then return to St. Agathe to open a biological laboratory with the new serum, a quantity of which has been placed in his hands by an anonymous friend. There is every facility for carrying on the work at St. Agathe.

PERMANENT PEACE MEMORIAL.

LONDON, March 13.—The English government has agreed to a 100-year peace between Great Britain and America provides for a permanent memorial to be built in Canada and Great Britain.

A memorandum of understanding was signed by the Foreign Office and the Canadian government.

It seems to me the height of the preposterous that this proposal, which is to be a permanent memorial to the Empire, should be put before this country with assertive and arrogant tone.

DAY SPENT IN DISCUSSING THE BUDGET

It said about the budget but for what it did not say." He proceeded to criticize the statements of the Provincial Treasurer with the development of the town and cities in the province, and said that this was not true, due to the fact that there was a Liberal government in the province, and merely part of the general development of the province. The leader of the opposition had nothing to say of ridicule and sarcasm regarding the opposition in order to evade responsibility, and the expenditure of $13,231,253 was not the revenue of the province from local sources was only $2,419,000. The province could not afford to have a deficit, and could not afford a depletion of its credit, which must be felt in turn by all the farms and business men in the province. The most practical rigid methods of economy," the leader of the opposition said, "will be adopted in spending from typewritten sheets. Men must not be engrossed for public offices for political purposes, but must be present in time men who will pay service to the government, organizing public meetings in the interest of the Liberal government.

Sufficient of the property has been sold to absolutely assure the general interest necessary to make the project a success and the success of the resort now. It will be one of the show places of the West within a few years. This is a new idea. It has met with the approval of intelligent, patriotic Canadians. Canada needs a great water-taking place. The U. S. A. has a hundred of them. In developing this, we are going to do our best to help Canada to realize her desire to live here. This resort in time will become as popular proportionately as Atlantic City, and will attract thousands of people to British Columbia. We want your support, whether you buy a lot or not. Don't pass judgment until you have investigated.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CHARTER ARE DISCUSSED

Municipal      e Deals With
Edmonton      Charter
Amendments.

OPPOSITION TO NEW TENANTS' FRANCHISE

Majority of People in Proposed Change.

Opposition was offered to the proposed change in the tenancy clause in the charter before the Municipal Committee of the Legislature yesterday when Edmonton chartered the city. The proposed proposed change is contained in the clause which provides that before a person can be put on the voters' list he must be a citizen of the city, a resident of the city for one year, and there being no procedure for getting at the facts, the city assessor threw the burden of proof on the franchisee that his residence in the city was not changed, but only the procedure. He claimed to be a native of Edmonton, whole city in asking the change.

Support Tenants' Charter.

Mr. Short said the man who lived in the city was a shareholder in the city and was paying taxes in the support of the city.

He also said that Major Short's view was that a tenant bearing utilties in the city had the right to buy the utilities to claim a share in the management of the city.

Men in Bay could claim the right to vote in the Hudson's Bay affairs.

Opposition to the proposed change in the tenancy clause was almost unanimous in favor of the proposal.

The Trades and Labor council petitioned the legislature to amend the proposed franchise to give the same suffrage for persons who had been resident in the city for one month previous to the election.

The proposed franchise would also protect tenants, citizens of the city.

It changes the procedure by which a tenant shall get on the list.

W. H. W.

The Municipal Committee of the Legislature, after hearing views expressed by the opposition, voted to have the charter be next taken up in committee of the whole house.

Major Short, Alderman East, representing with Col. Holloman Brown, the city council, Geo. P. Miller, member for Edmonton, moved the proposed change and made a motion that the clause containing the change be referred to the committee of the whole house.

J. A. McDougall expressed the opinion that there was no objection on the part of the opposition to the proposed change, but only to secure that those who voted under the tenants' franchises should be placed on the list.

Walled Cities Are Past.

A large number of delegations appeared before the committee to speak on various points in the city charter.

STORIES OF THE STAGE AND STAGEFOLK—OFFERINGS IN LOCAL PLAYHOUSES NEXT WEEK

Never on the Stage May Robson's First Part Was "You Quit"

Was Fired When She Said She Was Inexperienced, But Knew Better Next Time.

DEAR OLD "GRANMUM"
IN "NIGHT OUT" TALKS

Miss Robson Tells How She First Started Her Interesting
Stage Career.

May Robson, favorite now with all Edmontonians, was once a girl who said of "A Night Out" at the Empire theatre, "I enjoyed it so much that I wanted to have my mother come along." Of course, this first appearance now is a done thing, and when it is recalled that Miss Robson has since played more than 200 different roles, it seems rather strange that she was not born on the stage. But the fact is that she has not come from a theatrical family, and is the only member of it who ever attended the school as a student. She is the only woman member of her family, for that matter, who ever adopted any profession, or had to earn a living.

Beginning of Her Career.
"I was left a young widow," said Miss Robson, "with two small children to support, and I supported them for a time by chintz painting, but became so poor that I was compelled to begin by poorly paid girls. I east about for another means of earning my living, and, as you can imagine, I was the only woman member of my family, for that matter, who ever adopted any profession, or had to earn a living."

"The beginning of my career was when I was a girl of 16, having been offered a place as a girl who volunteered to act as an intercessor. Mr. Hanson went into estates upon being asked to play a girl, and I was asked to play a boy, and the upshot of the matter was that I was engaged to play the widow."

"I was asked to do this, and given at the time, and Mr. Hanson said I looked the part. Nobody thought to ask me if I wanted to do it, and I was taken for granted, that nobody without it would enter a drama."

When She Was Fired.
"But when Mr. Hanson later asked me at the station, preparation to leaving, if I wanted to do it, I had never been on the stage. He threw up his hands in horror, and fired me from the part. I was very angry, returned to the agency, and was unsophisticated enough to tell Mr. Simms, 'I'm not good enough for you.' He gave me a little lecture about keeping one's feet to myself, and made me a place in 'The King and I' at the Lyceum Theatre in New York, which opened in December, 1882. I played the role of 'Tilly,' and that was the beginning of my career. I have been in New York ever since, and have played at least 200 parts, counted on 180 the other day, and so you see there are a lot more I can't recall."

STAGELAND GOSSIP.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE STAGE

Incidents in Which Theatrical Stars Have Played a Very Prominent Part.

Frank Farrington, one of the comedians in "The Merry Countess," secured an enviable theatrical engagement after his first appearance in the play. His contract had been sent to Mr. Matt Gran, the New York theatrical agent to meet a producing manager, and when the two faced each other the manager said, "You are a comedian. Are you?"

"Yes, sir, I am."

"Then you can mouth!"

"I think so," volunteered the comedian.

"Well, you're off my show."

"So that I can tickle your feet," retorted Farrington.

Along the River.
Here is a story of the late Joseph Jefferson's. "I once knew a fine young actor, who delighted in playing 'Moll.' He was a man of many parts, and married to a young woman who lived in Maine. Accompanied by his father and mother, he came to New York to purchase their troupe, and one night occupied a box to see her fence set in a melodrama that was then running. The young actor was so short, the young actor put his whole soul into his work that night, and after the performance, when the curtain fell, he went where he was to meet the party. No one appeared, but a messenger boy with a note did, and this is what she said:

"You Harold—I will not meet you this evening or any other evening."

"I am sorry, but I must."

UNIONISTS WITHDRAW OFFICIAL SUPPORT

Candidate in South-Westernland Recuses to Deny Allegation Made by Asquith That He is a Free Trade Favours Insurance Act.

London, March 14.—A plump election has arrived to see if Westonland, where Col. Weston is the Unionist candidate. The party has recurred from him that he has supported him, but he has denied the allegation made by Premier Asquith that he is a free trader and in effect a Conservative.

Col. Weston is making compulsory training for home defence a plank of his programme. The press reports, and his agents, confident that victory will be his on Tuesday next. The election was made necessary owing to the death of the former 1st member, Sir Josseline Filtray Barret, who sat for South-Westernland in the last election but had a majority of 208.

CITY IS NOW FINANCED FOR ENTIRE YEAR

Offer of London Agencies to Take
$11,000,000 Worth of Debentures
Accepted

BARGAIN MADE IS HIGHLY SATISFACTORY

All Work Planned for the Year
Will Be Proceeded With

The city of Edmonton Thursday concluded negotiations with Kilmarnock, London, England, whereby the city will receive first £1,675,000 or $34,27 worth of debentures at a price of 95 per cent to the city, without accrued interest.

Kilmarnock agreed to pay 22 per cent on the first £1,000 worth of the city on the first of April; 22 per cent on June 1st, 22 per cent on July 1, and the remaining 22 per cent on December 1st.

The negotiations were carried on through the London Agencies, of the Messrs. Smith & Sons, of London.

Is a Good Bargain.

This means that the city is continuing the city a trifle over 5 1/4 per cent, and is considered a good bargain in view of the large offering and the present condition of the money market.

That the city is paying today for what it will receive in two or three years is now perfectly apparent. The sum was due last year when the city had to borrow heavily to make ends meet, and now the city has to finance not only 1912 sums, but also a great deal of that of 1913.

Money Not Raised.

City Auditor Richardson estimates that $2,500,000 was spent by the city, and that the amount will be increased. If other expenses are included, this sum probably would be necessary, but the auditor does not know how much debentures were sold.

If all the money actually needed is used, it is necessary to have about $8,000,000 worth of debentures, and the amount required would have been at least $2,500,000. This would have been a better bargain, but the amount required was normal, and so more acceptable to the money market.

However, even as it is, the city is making a good bargain. A better bargain, it is believed, than the one we were drawn on the market, to be only partially taken up by the public.

An Apothecary Market.

At the court of Canada are up against the relatives of the apothecary market. Toronto's new issue of bonds placed upon the London market recently has caused a stir. The city of London does not want more Canadian issues because they are difficult to market. This glut of bonds is a result of monetary conditions that are troubling municipalities and corporations over the world. Let me mention the underwriters who have to carry the bonds until they are sold. They are less than 100,000,000, and are trembling at the idea of selling their holdings at less than cost to themselves.

The Russian loan wants support in England. China is anxious to borrow. The Prussian and Swiss loans were coming in well, but now, Wiesbaden and many other cities have been disappointed when their bonds were not subscribed for at what seemed to be a reasonable price.

The city of Vancouver has just disposed of an issue of bonds at fully 95 per cent to the city. These would have sold for one year ago, while Saskatoon has dropped 10 per cent. The British Columbia, Victoria, Montréal and Hamilton 7 per cent. When recent sales are compared with those of a year ago,

Young Man Treated in New York by Dr. Theobald Declares His Pain Quiet Patient Since Serum Was Injected.

New York, March 14.—A young man who received an injection of the turtle bacillus, administered by Dr. Theobald, of New York, last Friday morning, this morning to have already improved materially and is interesting tale of the sensations he experienced since taking the treatment.

"About five hours after the time of the injection I felt a strange sensation in the calf of my leg," he said. "It was like a violent pulsation or motion, and when I applied pressure to the leg, it seemed to stop. I lay down again, and again went through my entire body. I felt that it must be the cutures spreading through the whole system and I put my hand on my heart and shouted 'Work, you turtle, work.'

"Following the treatment my temperature was 103 degrees, and I slept for a day or two and this morning was normal. I feel in every way as though I had been sleeping soundly. The increase in appetite, the night sweats gone, and the sense of exhaustion disappearing."
